EXAMINER'S COMMENT/REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. All previous rejections have been overcome by the amendment filed on August 17, 2005 and the rejections are withdrawn. Claims 1-6 are now pending in the application.

Reasons For Allowance

2. Claims 1-6 are allowed.

3. The following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance:

The instant claims are allowable over closest prior art of record to Sakamoto et al. (US 5,785,821).

The present claims are directed to a method of preventing polymerization of acrylic acid during separation of the acrylic acid from an aqueous solution containing glyoxal and/or its hydrate in an azeotropic dehydration column by withdrawing glyoxal and/or its hydrate from the bottom of the column in an amount of 50% or more with respect to 100% of the total glyoxal and/or its hydrate contained in the aqueous solution.

Sakamoto et al. disclose purification of acrylic acid from acrylic acid solution obtained after catalytic gas phase oxidation of propylene and/or acrolein. The aqueous acrylic acid is subjected to azeotropic distillation in the presence of poor water-soluble solvent. The aqueous acrylic acid solution disclosed generally contains 50-80% by weight of acrylic acid, 1-5% by weight of acetic acid and 20-40% by weight of water under the ordinary conditions of acrylic acid synthesis. The solution drawn out of the bottom of the azeotropic distillation column contains predominantly acrylic acid with trace amounts of acetic acid and other substances.

The prior art of record does not teach or suggest a method of preventing polymerization of acrylic acid during purification in an azeotropic dehydration unit by removing 50% or more of glyoxal and/or its hydrate from the bottom of the column as claimed instantly. Therefore, the instantly claimed invention is deemed allowable over closest prior art of record as per said art neither anticipating nor rendering, alone or in combination, the instantly claimed invention.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the Issue Fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the Issue Fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance.
